Creation & Earth
History Museum

The oldest Creation Museum in the world, apart from the world itself.

Welcome to the Creation and Earth History Museum. The museum has existed in various forms and locations since 1970. Designed, built and operated by the Institute for Creation Research, it has been in its current location since 1992.

Upon the Institute's recent move to Dallas, Texas, the museum, along with the building, was sold to Scantibodies Laboratory, Inc. Tom Cantor, the founder and owner of Scantibodies Laboratory, along with his wife Cheryl formed a non-profit 501(c)(3) ministry called Life and Light Foundation, from which to run the museum. Now owned and operated by the Life and Light Foundation, the museum will remain a showcase for a literal six day young earth creation model, as well as expanding the emphasis on the incredible design found in that creation. With plans for future expansion of the museum and resource center, Life and Light Foundation looks forward to strengthening the Christian community and serving the general public.

The key historical events displayed in the Museum:

- Creation
- Fall of man
- The worldwide flood and resultant Ice Age
- Beginning of nations
- Ancient civilizations
- Life, ministry, and resurrection of Jesus Christ
- The reformation and advent of science disciplines
- Creation/evolution debate since Darwin
- Current scientific research by creation scientists

At the Creation and Earth History Museum, you will experience a journey through time . . . In the museum you can find answers to life's perplexing questions:

How did the earth and the universe originate?

How old is the Earth?

When did the dinosaurs live and how did they become extinct?

What about the origins of mankind, nations and languages?

If God is good, why is there pain and suffering in the world?

What was the first life?

Is there evidence for the Genesis flood?

Is the Bible compatible with the Theory of Evolution?

Does history have a purpose?

Does life have a purpose?

How accurate are radioisotopic dating methods?

How many Ice Ages were there?

Is the Bible compatible with the "Big Bang" Theory?

The exhibits at this museum are based on true Biblical history, beginning with creation in Genesis 1. This journey will continue through the rebellion of humanity against the Creator, the worldwide flood of Noah's time, the dispersion at Babel, the history of Israel and the Gentile nations, the redemptive work of Jesus Christ, and the consummation of God's purposes for creation when Jesus returns.
